The Telegrams of Condolence—Monday to be Observed Throughout the Country as a Day of Mourning.

THE PRESIDENT'S PROCLAMATION.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—The president has issued the following proclamation:

EXECUTIVE MANSION, WASHINGTON, Nov. 19, 1886.
To the People of the United States:

It is my painful duty to announce the death of Chester A. Arthur, lately president of the United States, which occurred after an illness of long duration at an early hour this morning at his residence in the city of New York. Mr. Arthur was called to the chair of the chief magistracy of the Union by a tragedy which cast a shadow over the entire government. His assumption of his grave duties was marked by an evident conscientious sense of his responsibilities and an earnest desire to meet them in a patriotic and benevolent spirit. With dignity and ability he sustained the important duties of his station and the reputation of his personal worth. His conspicuous gracefulness and patriotic fidelity will long be cherished by his fellow-countrymen. In token of respect to the memory of the deceased it is ordered that the executive mansion and the several department buildings be draped in mourning for a period of thirty days, and that on the day of the funeral all public business in the departments be suspended. The secretary of war and navy will cause orders to be issued for appropriate military and naval honors to be rendered on that day.

Done at the city of Washington this 18th day of November, in the year of our Lord 1886, and of the independence of the United States of America 111.

The people of the country will sincerely mourn the loss of the person who served them well in their highest trust, and won their affections by an exhibition of the best traits of true American character.

[Signed.] GROVER CLEVELAND.

THE BOODLE STORY.

Some Rich Developments Yesterday in the Trial of Ex-Boodle Alderman Arthur J. McQuade.

Ex-Alderman Fullgraf with Hung Head Tells the Whole Transaction of the Broadway Franchise.

He Admits that He is a Bribe Receiver and a Perjuror, but Says His Conscience Smites Him.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—The trial of ex-Alderman Arthur J. McQuade, the indicted "hoodler," was continued this morning before a crowded court-room. Ex-Alderman Charles B. Waite resumed the witness chair. He acknowledged several visits to the office of the Broadway Surface Railway company and to seeing Moloney there. The witness came to New York several times in August, 1884, he being in New London, Conn., on business at the Pequot house at the time, August 29 he was summoned to New York by telegraph. The witness continued, saying he went to the Brevoort house and met James Richmond. Afterward he came down town and in passing through the court-house to the city hall he again met Richmond. Bright was with Richmond. One of them gave him a paper. The paper was produced in court and identified by the witness. This occurred August 30. The witness then went up to the aldermanic chamber. The witness said the telegram was to notify him of the meeting. He presided at the meeting of the board. The mayor's veto message on the franchise was read and the bill was passed over the veto. The meeting was held with closed doors. Except the members of the board no one was present but J. Francis Kieran, a newspaper man. The witness did not know whether McQuade was present or not, or who drafted the resolution to pass the bill over the veto.

Cross-examination elicited the fact that the resolution was in type writing. According to the result of a previous consultation of the aid men, the report of the railroad committee was prepared in the office of Scribner & Bright, as was also the resolution in type writing.

Ex-Alderman Fullgraf was next called as a witness. He affirmed that he had resided in New York and Brooklyn thirty-eight years and had been in business twenty-six years. He is a highland man with a mustache and tint chin whippers. He sat with his eyes on the lawyers and his hands clasped in his lap. The witness said an informal meeting was held in May, 1884, after the board had adjourned. Eight or nine members were present of which McQuade was one. The subject discussed was the fact that it was necessary to have thirteen votes to pass the bill. It was agreed to meet at the office of the witness within a week. This was done and the meeting was held at Fullgraf's factory after business hours. This was before the bill was passed. Thirteen aldermen were present. McQuade was one. The witness named from memory Kinney, Bayles, Waite, McCabe, Duffy and Jaehne as being present. McLaughlin was chairman. DeLacy was also present. It was agreed that the thirteen members present would hold together on any question before the board. Nothing was said about the Broadway railroad. It was agreed to meet one week later at McLaughlin's house. The witness attended the latter meeting. McLaughlin was made chairman again on Duffy's motion. The first business was the question of the Broadway franchise. It was said that other companies, the Cable road and others, wanted franchises. Jaehne, DeLacy and others spoke, saying the Broadway Railroad company had offered $750,000 for a franchise, one-half in cash and one-half in bonds. The witness did not know who the money and stock was to go to. It was said that the surface road had offered $500,000 in cash. The witness said the offer of the cable road was considered the best. It was decided to accept the offer of the Broadway Surface road by a unanimous vote. The witness voted for it. The next question discussed was who should be entrusted with the money. Something was said about the amount, $20,000, was to go to each member. One member thought the amount should be $25,000 each. It was said the lawyers had concluded to pay only $24,000, and that amount was decided upon unanimously. McQuade voted aye. Another meeting was held at McLaughlin's house, but twelve out of the thirteen were present. The question discussed was to select a member to hold the money. The witness thought McQuade said Moloney might be trusted with so large an amount. Duffy suggested Keenan, and he was selected. DeLacy then said he wished to have the members present go to Keenan and assure him it was all right. The witness said the possibility of a veto was considered, and in that case it was decided to leave the work of getting a two-thirds vote to Moloney. After the veto another meeting was held at McLaughlin's to discuss it. As more votes were necessary it was decided unanimously to cut down each man's part to $20,000. The witness said he saw Moloney at his house August 29, and the latter brought the witness a paper to sign. There were several other names on the paper. It was a call for the memorable morning meeting of August 30. The witness attended the meeting August 30. McQuade and the witness were both present at another meeting in McLaughlin's house August 31. There had been no money paid yet, and this was the subject of discussion. The witness received part of $5000 before the election that was due. The final vote granting the franchise was taken December 5. Up to and after that date the witness had received $18,000. Keenan paid it. The witness asked McQuade after December 5 if he had got his money. McQuade replied it was all right.

This ended the direct examination. A consultation of lawyers followed. An audience who had listened with deep interest, using their hands as ear trumpets, sat back in their seats to dissent as to untying the testimony. The witness

A COLONIZING SCHEME.

Another Attempt to Found a Colored Colony in Missouri.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 19.—Rev. J. Wilton Turner, a well-known colored politician, says he has become convinced that the time has come for the colored people to seek some other means than politics for the betterment of their condition. He believes they must be redistributed throughout the country, and has again for the formation of a colony in Missouri. In Butler county Charles F. Chateau has set aside 55,000 acres of fertile, heavily wooded lands. Located in the vicinity are saw mills representing investments of $100,000. The purchasers of homes will be paid 50 cents per thousand for cutting logs on their lands, 14 cents per foot for cutting and peeling plies, and 10 cents each for making railroad ties. The lands are to be sold for from $1 to $6 per acre, all timber except what is needed for fencing and building being reserved, one-third of the purchase money to be paid in cash, when a deed will be given, and the purchaser is to give notes bearing 8 per cent. interest for the balance. Where the purchaser cannot pay one-third down he may pay what he likes and immediately occupy the land, but no deed will be given until one-third is paid. Carpenters will at once begin the erection of ten or fifteen houses, but after settlers begin to arrive in numbers they will build their own. Already there are several actual settlers and Mr. Turner is confident the scheme will prove a great blessing to the colored race.

A Cotton Pickery at Houston a Total Loss.

Special to the Gazette.
HOUSTON, TEX., Nov. 19.—To-night at 11:15 a fire broke out in the cotton pickery of Zeigler Bros., situated in the Fifth ward. The fire was the result of an incendiary. The watchman in charge saw a man leaving the building as the flames burst forth and fired two shots without effect. The entire building, press and machinery were destroyed. The cotton in the yard was insured for $1500. The building and contents insured for $2100. The entire loss will aggregate over $8000, insured in companies represented by O. L. Cochran of this city. Names of insurance companies cannot be obtained to-night.

Residence Burned.

Special to the Gazette.
CLEBURNE, TEX., Nov. 19.—The residence of Jim Holden, who lived seven miles south of this city, was destroyed by fire last Wednesday night. Mr. Holden had just succeeded in building a new house, and was preparing to move into it, when it, unfortunately, was burned. Mr. Holden procured lumber and proposes to rebuild at once.

SUNSET BRAKEMEN.

Trouble Brewing Between the Brakemen and the Management.

Special to the Gazette.
HOUSTON, TEX., Nov. 19.—It is understood here that there is trouble existing between the brakemen of the Southern Pacific company's Atlantic system and the management of the company. A committee of brakemen consisting of Robert McElroy, John Glickerson and E. M. Drew left this city to-night for New Orleans to confer with and lay their grievances before the officials of the road. The brakemen claim that the company have not lived up to its agreements made with them last winter on the termination of the big strike. It is thought the matter will be amicably adjusted by arbitration.

First Premium

ON—

REAL MERIT.

Now that my competitors are about through advertising that he received the diploma for this and that exhibit, a breathing spell will be afforded the public, to ascertain by careful reading and investigation that the Pianos represented by me were the only ones that were awarded the first premium for "quality of tone and excellence of workmanship," while all other awards were for the BEST display. It is an easy thing to get up a large display of instruments; but it seemed impossible for my competitors to enter an instrument that could carry away the prize which I was fortunate enough to capture.

The public is not slow to recognize real merit, and when they want first-class Pianos, they generally buy the Knabe or the Ivers & Pond, for which I am the sole agent.

I also represent the world-renowned Mason & Hamlin, Chase and Shoninger Organs. If you intend buying an instrument, be sure to learn my prices and terms before closing the trade elsewhere.
